INTRODUCTION

ABOUT AMERISPEAK

AmeriSpeak is the first U.S. multi-client household panel to combine the speed and cost effectiveness of panel surveys with enhanced representativeness of the U.S. population, an industry-leading response rate, and the NORC Card, an innovative sample quality report card. Since its founding by NORC at the University of Chicago in 2015, AmeriSpeak has produced more than 300 surveys, been cited by dozens of media outlets, and become the primary survey partner of the nation's preeminent news service, The Associated Press. Our sampling captures a true picture of America, providing better representation than other panels for hard-to-reach populations, including low-income households, less-educated persons, young adults, rural households, persons who are less interested in the news, and social and political conservatives. AmeriSpeak is the most scientifically rigorous multi-client panel available in the U.S. market.

Respect for the principles of voluntariness and informed consent as described in the Belmont Report¹ is central to our procedures in building and maintaining the AmeriSpeak Panel. Participation in research is voluntary at the time that respondents are asked to join the panel, at the time they are asked to participate in any particular survey, and at the time they answer any given question in a survey. AmeriSpeak panelists are not coerced to participate in any research, and they are not removed from the panel as a result of failure to participate in any particular survey project or program of study. AmeriSpeak panelists have the option to “opt-out” of the panel at any time by notifying NORC. NORC maintains a dedicated email queue, a toll-free phone number, and its own call-center panel management facility to receive requests for information and action from panelists.

J. Michael Dennis is the executive director of AmeriSpeak and a senior vice president at NORC, and has completed human subjects training from NORC, National Institutes of Health (NIH), University of California (Irvine), and Stanford University. Other key staff has also completed human subjects training as required by NORC's internal Institutional Review Board.

ABOUT NORC

NORC at the University of Chicago is an objective, non-partisan research institution that delivers reliable data and rigorous analysis to guide critical programmatic, business, and policy decisions. Since 1941, NORC has conducted groundbreaking studies, created and applied innovative methods and tools, and advanced principles of scientific integrity and collaboration. Today, government, corporate, and nonprofit clients around the world partner with NORC to transform increasingly complex information into useful knowledge.

NORC INSTITUTIONAL REVIEW BOARD (IRB)

NORC operates its own Institutional Review Board (IRB), which follows a formal process for examining all research projects to assure human subjects protections and minimize respondent burden. In addition, NORC routinely produces materials for Office of Management and Budget review of proposed federal data collection efforts, including their review of respondent burden minimization techniques. Beyond federal requirements, NORC researchers strive to reduce respondent burden in order to maximize response and overall public benefit deriving from survey research work.

NORC's IRB has the corporate responsibility for monitoring survey procedures to ensure the confidentiality of persons and establishments participating in a study. Before any survey may begin, the principal investigator or project director must submit a formal protocol to address human subject protections that includes all survey materials and instruments. The IRB administrator and chair are responsive to the need for timely reviews, and all Board members take an active role in helping guide protocols to meet the highest standards for human subject protections.

NORC's IRB has obtained a Federal Wide Assurance (FWA) and is registered with the Federal Office for Human Research Protections. The FWA demonstrates that the NORC IRB complies with the strict U.S. Department of Health and Human Services regulations. NORC's IRB requires that research protocols, both for projects in the United States and internationally, provide sufficient detail to ensure that 1) the selection of subjects is equitable, subjects' privacy is protected, and data confidentiality is maintained, 2) informed consent is written in language that study participants can understand and is obtained without coercion or undue influence, and 3) appropriate safeguards protect the rights and welfare of vulnerable subjects. Reviewed materials include the informed consent statements, all contact materials, and the survey instruments. In addition, the protocol must include the curriculum used for training interviewers and other project staff on human subject protections, as well as the security plan to safeguard data security and the information technology infrastructure for collecting and transmitting data.

NORC IRB REVIEW OF AMERISPEAK RESEARCH

The NORC IRB is responsible for human subjects review of all AmeriSpeak Panel recruitment procedures. In addition, the NORC IRB reviews all publically funded research conducted using the AmeriSpeak Panel. If an external organization requires that their IRB review a study protocol, NORC and its IRB will work with that organization in order to review and approve the study prior to fielding.

IRB REVIEW FOR TIME-SHARING EXPERIMENTS FOR THE SOCIAL SCIENCES (TESS)

The AmeriSpeak Panel is the data source for the National Science Foundation funded Time-Sharing Experiments for the Social Sciences research platform (www.tessexperiments.org). For the TESS project, it is the responsibility of each TESS principal investigator to receive IRB approval from their university or organizational IRB prior to conducting research using AmeriSpeak.

NORC's IRB will not review TESS study protocols and will rely on external IRB approval. As panel members have already agreed to participate in surveys, and since the survey research poses minimal risk to respondents, NORC and its IRB recommend that these studies be classified as exempt research unless a particular study has a unique design that warrants additional review.

AMERISPEAK METHODOLOGY AND TECHNICAL DESIGN

TARGET POPULATION

AmeriSpeak provides a representative panel of civilian, non-institutional adults (age 13 and over) living in the United States.

SAMPLE FRAME

In order to provide a nationally representative sample, AmeriSpeak leverages the NORC National Sample Frame, constructed by NORC to cover over 97 percent of U.S. households. The 2010 National Frame used a two-stage probability sample design to select a representative sample of households in the United States. The first stage—the primary sampling unit—is a National Frame Area (NFA), which is either an entire metropolitan area (made up of one or more counties) or a county (some counties were combined so that each NFA contains a population of at least 10,000). The largest NFAs with a population of at least 1,543,728 (0.5 percent of the 2010 Census U.S. population) were selected with certainty; these areas have a high population density and are dominated by census tracts with street-style addresses. These NFAs contain 56 percent of the population within 8 percent of the geographic area of the United States. The remaining NFAs were stratified into strata: urban areas where street-style addresses predominate; and rural areas, which are less likely to have street-style addresses. The latter stratum (rural areas) comprises 81 percent of the geographic area, but only 14 percent of the population.

Within the selected NFAs, the second stage sampling unit is a segment, defined either in terms of census tracts or block groups, containing at least 300 housing units according to the 2010 Census. A stratified probability sample of 1,514 segments was selected with probability proportional to size. For most of the 1,514 segments, the USPS Delivery Sequence File (DSF) provided over 90 percent coverage of the segment in terms of city-style addresses that are geocodeable. For the 123 segments where the DSF provided insufficient coverage, we enhanced the DSF address list with in-person listing. The National Frame contains almost 3 million households, including over 80,000 rural households added through the in-person listing.

For AmeriSpeak Panel recruitment, NORC also has supplemented the National Frame with address-based samples at various levels since AmeriSpeak's inception. For instance, AmeriSpeak has fielded address-based samples in Alaska, Iowa, North Dakota, and Wyoming in order to assure appropriate sample coverage for the four states that contain no sample households in the National Frame. In addition, AmeriSpeak in 2020 will field supplemental samples in Wisconsin, Missouri, Washington, and Colorado to improve the geographical distribution of the AmeriSpeak sample in those states.

SAMPLE SELECTION FOR PANEL RECRUITMENT

For panel sample selection between 2014 and 2018, National Frame segments were stratified into six sampling strata based on the race/ethnicity and age composition of each segment, as below:

- Hispanic, high youth segments
- Hispanic, not high youth segments
- Non-Hispanic black, high youth segments
- Non-Hispanic black, not high youth segments
- Other, high youth segments
- Other, not high youth segments

Hispanic segments are those where Hispanics make up at least a third of the population and the Hispanic share in the population is greater than that of non-Hispanic black. Similarly, non-Hispanic black segments are those where non-Hispanic blacks make up at least a third of the population and the non-Hispanic black share in the population is greater than that of Hispanics. Finally, “high youth” refers to segments in which 18-24 year old adults are at least 12 percent of the total adult population. The above stratification is used to oversample housing units in areas with higher concentrations of young adults, Hispanics, and non-Hispanic African-Americans. The resulting household sample is referred to as the initial AmeriSpeak sample or sample for initial panel recruitment.

To support the second stage of panel recruitment, initially sampled but nonresponding housing units are subsampled for a nonresponse follow-up (NRFU).² At this stage, consumer vendor data are matched to the pending housing units, and housing units that are flagged as having a young adult³ (18-34 years of age) or minority (Hispanic⁴, non-Hispanic black⁵) are oversampled for the NRFU sample. Overall, approximately 1 in 5 initially nonresponding housing units are subsampled for NRFU using the same six sampling strata defined above. Due to NRFU, these initially nonresponding housing units have a much higher selection probability compared to the housing units that were recruited during the first stage of panel recruitment.

A two-phase, state-based ABS (address-based sampling) sample design was used for the 2019 AmeriSpeak recruitment. NORC’s National Frame is designed to represent the U.S. household

² A small fraction of initially nonresponding housing units are not eligible for NRFU, including “hard refusals” and those with an appointment for a call back from NORC.

population nationally. At the state level, however, the panel may not be sufficiently representative, especially for states with a small population. The primary objective of the 2019 design is to improve state-level representation by selecting the recruitment sample mostly from areas that are outside the National Frame. A stratified systematic sample was selected in the first phase, where each state constitutes a sampling stratum and the sample was allocated to the strata proportional to the square root of the state population. In the second phase, young adults, Hispanic, non-Hispanic black, and conservatives are oversampled based on commercial data sources to improve their representation in the panel.

There was no NRFU sampling and in-person recruitment under the 2019 design. Therefore, the 2019 design did not involve geographic clustering. NRFU is resumed in 2020 as most of the sample is again selected from the National Frame under a sample design similar to the 2014-2018 design in terms of sample stratification, oversampling, and NRFU subsampling for in-person recruitment. In addition to the four states not covered by the National Frame, the 2020 sample design also features supplemental ABS samples for Colorado, Missouri, Washington, and Wisconsin, representing NORC's continuing effort to improve the representation of the AmeriSpeak Panel at the state level.

The overall AmeriSpeak Panel sample design reflects the cumulative design features of the NORC National Frame and the annual recruitment samples thus far. These design features are captured in the final panel weight for each recruited household and each panelist. There are mainly two reasons why the sampling design for AmeriSpeak Panel recruitment deviates from EPSEM (Equal Probability of Selection Method) sampling: 1) oversampling of housing units in segments with a higher concentration of young adults and minorities results in the sample selection probabilities being higher for housing units in these segments, and 2) NRFU subsampling results in initially nonresponding housing units having a much higher selection probability. Furthermore, within the NRFU samples, selection probabilities vary for housing units depending on the appended commercial data flags to target specific demographics for improved efficiency. The initial and NRFU sampling procedures are examined and possibly modified each year to more efficiently recruit subpopulations who are less likely to respond to the recruitment survey.

AMERISPEAK PANEL RECRUITMENT PROCEDURES

Recruitment is a two-stage process: initial recruitment using less expensive methods and then nonresponse follow-up using personal interviewers. For the initial recruitment, sample units are invited to join AmeriSpeak online by visiting the panel website (www.amerispeak.org) or by telephone (inbound/outbound supported). English and Spanish language are supported for both online and telephone recruitment. Study invitations are communicated via a 6" x 9" pre-notification postcard, a USPS recruitment package in a 9" x 12" envelope (containing a cover letter, a study brochure, and a non-contingent incentive), one follow-up postcard, and also follow-up by NORC's telephone research center for matched sample units.

The second-stage nonresponse follow-up targets a stratified random subsample of the nonresponders from the initial recruitment. Stratification is based on consumer vendor data and stratification variables from the initial recruitment stage in order to increase sample representation of young adults, non-Hispanic African Americans, and Hispanics. Units sampled for the nonresponse follow-up are sent, by FedEx, a new recruitment package with an enhanced incentive offer. NORC field interviewers then make personal, face-to-face visits to the respondents' homes to encourage participation. NORC field interviewers administer the recruitment survey in person using computer-assisted personal interviewing or else encourage the respondents to register at www.amerispeak.org or call the toll-free AmeriSpeak telephone number to register.

CONSENTING AND INITIAL PROFILING

AmeriSpeak's recruitment procedures for protecting the rights of human research subjects have been reviewed and approved by NORC's IRB. NORC obtains and documents research subjects' informed consent and agreement to the study's Privacy Policy and Terms and Conditions during the registration process. After registration is completed, AmeriSpeak Panel members first complete an introduction survey of about 15 minutes by web or by telephone asking questions about the household's composition and the person's background and interests. The introduction survey provides an initial profile of the panelist and the household. Upon completion of the registration process and introduction survey, the respondent is an "active" AmeriSpeak panelist eligible for client studies and additional NORC-conducted profile surveys.

After one adult in the household becomes an active AmeriSpeak panelist, other adults in the household are invited to join AmeriSpeak. The first adult in a household to become an active AmeriSpeak panelist is the "primary" panelist for the household. Other adults in the household are known as eligible or active "secondary" panelists. To become an active AmeriSpeak Panel member, these additional adults are required to complete the same registration and introduction survey that was completed by the primary AmeriSpeak panelist in the household.

During the initial profiling, some new panelists are offered the option to participate in future AmeriSpeak studies by the telephone mode of data collection instead of online. Therefore, once the initial profiling is completed, each panelist is enrolled in either the online or telephone modes of data collection for future AmeriSpeak studies.

After the initial profiling is completed via the introduction survey, subsequent NORC surveys invite the panelist to provide additional background information about public affairs, health services, health conditions, and financial services (among other topics).

PANEL MEMBER STUDY PARTICIPATION

AmeriSpeak Panel members typically participate in AmeriSpeak web-based or phone-based studies two to three times a month. Surveys are usually 10 to 20 minutes in length; however, longer surveys are permitted with the allowance for additional incentives to recognize the time spent by AmeriSpeak panelists.

INCENTIVES FOR STUDY PARTICIPATION

AmeriSpeak Panel members receive modest incentives, in the form of “AmeriPoints,” for participation in surveys. For the majority of surveys, a respondent will earn between 2,000 and 10,000 AmeriPoints (1,000 points = $1) for completing a survey. If a survey is very long (e.g., 30 minutes or longer), or we ask a respondent to participate in other custom research such as an in-depth telephone interview, then they may receive an incentive of 10,000 points or more. A panel member is credited with earned points for a survey once they complete the survey. A respondent can take breaks during a survey and return to the survey at a later time. In addition, they may skip survey questions that they do not wish to answer. Once a panelist has accumulated 10,000 points, the panelist can redeem the earned points for reward cards or gift cards. Online members redeem points through the AmeriSpeak Panel member web portal or AmeriSpeak app. Panelists who complete surveys by phone contact the NORC toll-free support line to redeem their points.

PANEL MANAGEMENT POLICIES

NORC maintains strict rules to limit respondent burden and reduce the risk of panel fatigue. On average, AmeriSpeak Panel members typically participate in AmeriSpeak web-based or phone-based studies two to three times a month.

Because the risk of panel attrition increases with the fielding of poorly constructed survey questionnaires, the AmeriSpeak team works with NORC clients to create surveys that provide an appropriate user experience for AmeriSpeak panelists. During the pretesting phase of AmeriSpeak survey projects, AmeriSpeak researchers provide clients consulting on best practices for the design of survey questions. AmeriSpeak will not field surveys that in our professional opinion will result in a poor user experience for our panelists and in panel attrition.

AmeriSpeak’s recruitment procedures for protecting the rights of human research subjects have been reviewed and approved by NORC’s IRB. For publicly funded research, NORC’s IRB will review the proposed research unless an external IRB is required to conduct the protocol review. AmeriSpeak’s research staff will manage the IRB review process on behalf of its clients.

AMERISPEAK PANEL PRIVACY PROTECTIONS

The documents described in this section related to communications to participants are provided in English to English speakers and in Spanish to Spanish speakers. The examples shown in this document are the English language versions.

CONFIDENTIALITY AGREEMENT WITH PANEL MEMBERS

Panel member survey responses are confidential, and personally identifying information is not revealed to clients unless the panelist gives NORC explicit permission to do so. Data is provided to clients with an anonymous record identification number. This number is generated for each separate study so the same number is not used for a specific panelist across all data files.

AmeriSpeak Panel members are notified of a new survey by email or telephone, based on their preferred mode. The text copy for a standard survey invitation is shown in Appendix E. Panelists may also be contacted via SMS if they have previously provided consent to receiving SMS texts as AmeriSpeak panelists. Online panelists may also access their surveys through the AmeriSpeak web portal or AmeriSpeak app. A panel member can complete a survey only once. Panelists may withdraw from the panel at any time and may refuse to answer any survey questions they do not wish to answer.

The AmeriSpeak Privacy Policy and Terms and Conditions documents are available on the panel member website (www.amerispeak.org) and included below in Appendix C and Appendix D. Therefore, these key documents are available online to AmeriSpeak Panel members at all times. For all panel members, NORC mails paper copies of the Privacy Policy and Terms and Conditions as part of a panelist welcome kit that is sent shortly after a research subject joins AmeriSpeak. AmeriSpeak Panel members not having internet access, as well as those who do, receive the hard copy Privacy Policy and Terms and Conditions documentation in the welcome kit.

OBTAINING CONSENT FOR SPECIFIC SURVEYS

The vast majority of surveys conducted on the AmeriSpeak Panel do not require the collection of additional study-specific consent for participation for the following reasons: panel members have already agreed to participate in surveys, and surveys are determined by IRBs to be “exempt research” that has minimal risk for participants. For certain studies that cover sensitive topics or involve interviewing of minors, a study-specific consent may be required. These will be determined on a case-by-case basis by NORC’s IRB or by other IRBs if NORC is relying on another institution’s IRB.

ADVERSE EVENT REPORTING

AmeriSpeak Panel members can contact NORC through a toll-free support number as well as by email. Support is provided by NORC staff specifically trained to provide assistance to AmeriSpeak panelists. The contact information is provided to panelists online at the www.amerispeak.org website and through email, phone, and mail communications. This allows panel members to contact NORC with any questions or concerns regarding a study. If an adverse event is reported, NORC will report this information to the NORC IRB as well as appropriate study investigators and the project team.

DATA AND RECORD STORAGE

NORC is responsible for the receipt and collection of sensitive data on a large number of projects for the federal government and other clients. We focus on advanced methodologies to manage vast amounts of data while maintaining high security. This work is enabled by very large and expandable Storage Area Networks, relational database management systems, internet-enabled applications, high-capacity back-up infrastructure, and the use of virtual servers.

NORC's security program is compliant with federal government regulations and can be adapted easily to meet the unique requirements of any project. Recent years have been highlighted by breaches in computer security of various government agencies as well as private industry. As a result, every organization has been challenged to meet the potential for such security issues with multi-layered approaches to securing computer systems and the data they contain. NORC takes the matter of computer security seriously and has developed a multi-tiered approach to managing the issues surrounding computer and data security.

On many of our projects, compliance with NIST 800-53 recommendations is a requirement. NORC currently has other government projects that require similar compliance, and recent audits by those projects have found that our systems meet or exceed these requirements. We have projects underway for the Department of Labor, Federal Reserve, and Bureau of the Census that require independent audits to confirm compliance. In each case, we have successfully met the NIST standards.

Physical security/facilities. NORC takes great care to enforce physical security measures specifically designed to ensure that access to confidential data is restricted to only those employees who possess the need, as well as the authorization, to review such information.

Network data security. NORC requires the use of internal network data storage services to store all project-related data files. Partitioned network storage is provided for each project to mitigate the potential for data loss due to accidents, computer equipment malfunction, or human error, as well as to administer access rights regarding privacy issues related to both legal and contractual obligations. Wide arrays of network security precautions are undertaken by NORC to ensure the proper storage of all project data.

Application security. Application security is an important matter at NORC, and we strictly adhere to demanding procedures when dealing with these applications. Software logins are designed to use a specifically encrypted challenge/response technology. All NORC applications that manage case, response, and corporate financial data protect against unauthorized access and restrict authorized access to the minimum necessary level.

Case-level security. Data access restriction is accomplished through the use of unique case identifiers that allow the database to create a partition between response data and other data that could be used to identify an individual. NORC retains the option to augment any standard application security practice on a particular project so as to accommodate any special needs that may arise. In addition, the launch of NORCSuite 3 strengthens our ability to do so.

Encrypted data and communication. All remote access to internal NORC computing resources requires two-factor authentication and encrypted channels. Only secure, encrypted file transfers are used when exchanging files with clients and/or partners over the internet. All of NORC's laptop computers are provisioned with an automatic full disk encryption system to protect against loss of sensitive data should any of these machines be lost or stolen.

Electronic data transfer external to NORC. All data used by NORC staff is stored within and transmitted on NORC's private network and is secured as described above in the section titled "Network data security." Should a project obligation require that the data be electronically transmitted to or from NORC's secure, private network, standard protocol dictates that encryption technology be used. Due to the variety of data delivery requirements that projects may demand, any enhanced electronic transfer security can be addressed within alternative protocols.

Access control / authentication. All user credentials and associated access permissions are subject to the controls and standards maintained by NORC's Information Technology (IT) department. In particular, passwords must meet stringent requirements for length and complexity and must be changed on a regular basis.

Backup and retrieval procedures. All data that currently resides on the NORC network is backed up on a nightly basis. The backups are then stored in a secure, offsite location. Any archived information is retrievable from the storage facility within a few hours. Only a limited number of NORC's IT personnel are authorized to request the retrieval of these data media from the offsite location. This retrieval process requires a strict identification and authorization procedure. Backups made for the purpose of disaster recovery have a retention period of one year. NORC maintains a Disaster Recovery Plan as part of its standard operating procedure, so that in the event of a major system outage, production systems can quickly be restored and normal operations resumed.

Virus protection. To keep viruses and other malware from entering our systems, NORC IT has taken several preventative measures. All NORC computer systems are protected from computer viruses by centrally managed anti-malware software and distribution of the latest security patches. NORC's network is further protected by tightly controlled firewalls and email filtering technology.

Project personnel security practices and procedures. NORC conducts a pre-employment background investigation on each new or returning employee (if the returning employee has been gone for over one year or has not previously had a background investigation conducted). Additionally, NORC may require employees transferring to a new project or different department to undergo a new background investigation. Offers to new hires are contingent upon the satisfactory completion of a background investigation, and all NORC employees must complete a Commitment to Confidentiality form as a condition of employment. In addition, all staff members receive security training specific to the project to which they are assigned.

AMERISPEAK TEEN SURVEYS

AmeriSpeak Teen is the NORC-owned panel of pre-recruited and pre-consented study participants age 13-17 residing in AmeriSpeak Panel households.

AmeriSpeak panelists who are parents or legal guardians of teens age 13-17 years old may be contacted by emails, texts, phone calls, and/or snail mail, for permission to invite their teens to participate in the AmeriSpeak Teen Panel.

Upon consent from parents or legal guardians (referred collectively as “parents” hereafter), teens are invited by emails, texts, phone calls, and/or snail mail to join AmeriSpeak Teen using the contact information provided by parents. Text for parental consent is shown in Appendix F.

In order to qualify for participation in AmeriSpeak Teen, invited and eligible teens must complete the teen introduction survey, during which NORC obtains informed consent from the invited teen for participating in AmeriSpeak Teen surveys. As part of the teen introduction survey and prior to obtaining consent, invited and eligible teens are presented online the AmeriSpeak Privacy Policy and Terms and Conditions documents (the same documents presented to the adult panelists). Upon obtaining consent from the teens, NORC mails the documents to the consented teens in the welcome kit, following the protocol NORC employs for initiating new adult AmeriSpeak Panel members. The text copy for the teen consent procedure is shown in Appendix G. All security and consent protocols implemented for adult panelists are in effect for invited and eligible teens. NORC does not share a teen’s Member ID nor survey responses with parents or clients.

Consented teens are considered “empaneled” for purposes of participation in AmeriSpeak Teen surveys. NORC can then reach out directly to the empaneled teens to administer surveys that do NOT address or involve sensitive topics that would require study-specific parental consent. As a courtesy, parents are notified each time their empaneled teen is invited to complete a survey regarding non-sensitive topics. However, parental consent is again sought before inviting empaneled teens for any surveys that include questions about sensitive topics. NORC’s IRB determines whether a survey contains sensitive or non-sensitive questions upon review of the project questionnaires, and, therefore, determines whether study-specific parental consent is required for each AmeriSpeak Teen survey.

AmeriSpeak Teen members are notified of a new survey by email or telephone, based on their preferred mode. Text copy for a standard survey invitation is shown in Appendix H. AmeriSpeak Teen panelists may also be contacted via SMS upon teen consent. Online teen panelists may also access their surveys through the AmeriSpeak web portal and the AmeriSpeak app. A teen panel member can complete a survey only once. Teen panelists may withdraw from the panel at any time and may refuse to answer any survey questions they do not wish to answer. Additionally, parents may also withdraw their consent for their teens to participate in the panel at any time.

AmeriSpeak Teen relies on the same incentive process as used for AmeriSpeak adult panel members. Teen panelists receive incentives in the form of “AmeriPoints” (1,000 points = $1) for participation in surveys. Once a teen panelist has accumulated 10,000 points, the AmeriSpeak Teen panelist can redeem the points for reward cards or gift cards either through the AmeriSpeak web portal, the AmeriSpeak app, or by calling the NORC toll-free support line.

To further help NORC protect parents' and teens' privacy, NORC has obtained a Certificate of Confidentiality from NIH. NORC can use this certificate to legally refuse to disclose information that may identify parents and teens in any federal, state, or local civil, criminal, administrative, legislative, or other proceedings, for example, if there is a court subpoena. NORC can use the certificate to resist any demands for information that would identify parents and teens.

In addition to AmeriSpeak Teen panel members, other minors residing in AmeriSpeak households are eligible to participate in AmeriSpeak surveys. NORC obtains study-specific consent from AmeriSpeak parents and legal guardians for data collections inviting minors to participate in AmeriSpeak surveys. AmeriSpeak panelists who are parents of minors (defined as persons under 18 years old) are contacted by emails, SMS texts, telephone calls, and/or snail mail, to obtain permission to invite their minors to participate in research. Upon obtaining consent from parents, NORC invites minors to participate in research by email, SMS texts, telephone calls, and/or snail mail to participate using the contact information provided by parents. Text copy for a standard parent and minor consent is shown in Appendix I and Appendix J. NORC does not share a minor's Member ID nor survey responses with parents or clients. Non-empaneled minors who complete the studies may receive incentives in the form of cash, Amazon.com gift cards, or Target gift cards.

ABOUT NORC AT THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

NORC at the University of Chicago is an independent, nonprofit research organization that has been affiliated with the University for more than fifty years. Headquartered in downtown Chicago, Illinois, NORC collaborates with government agencies, foundations, education institutions, nonprofit organizations, and businesses to provide data and analysis that support informed decision making in key areas including health, education, crime, justice, energy, security, the environment, and marketing and business strategies.

This Privacy Policy sets forth the collection, use, and disclosure of personal data or personally identifiable information ("PII") and other information by NORC in connection with NORC's Services (as defined herein). NORC's Services provide you with the opportunity to join a Panel (as defined herein), participate in surveys (whether as a Panel member or a non-Panel member), use the websites and/or apps associated with the Panels, and receive and redeem rewards and incentives, including, without limitation, sweepstakes entries, offered in connection with Panel membership and/or the completion of surveys (collectively "Services"). Registration with, use of, and access to NORC's Services is subject to NORC's AmeriSpeak Terms and Conditions, enclosed in this packet.

Your use of NORC's Services is completely voluntary, and therefore NORC's processing of your PII in connection with the Services and this Privacy Policy is with your consent. NORC strives to conform its privacy practices to applicable laws, codes, and regulations, and the codes of standards of applicable market and opinion survey research associations, including the Council of American Survey Organizations (CASRO). For clarification, except for Panels that have a separate privacy policy, this Privacy Policy applies to all of NORC's survey research panels. All references to "us" or "we" refer to NORC. All PII is stored on servers located in the United States, which servers are owned and maintained by NORC.

For the purpose of this Privacy Policy, the term "PII" shall include, without limitation, your name, address(es), telephone number(s) (including home, cell, and/ or business telephone numbers), email address(es), date of birth, the unique identification number we assign to you (your "Member PIN"), reward, loyalty, or incentive account numbers; and Sensitive Data (as defined herein).

WHAT INFORMATION IS COLLECTED BY NORC, HOW IS PII COLLECTED, AND HOW IS IT USED?

1. INFORMATION YOU SUBMIT

NORC collects information from Panel members during and after registration with a Panel, including, without limitation, during participation in a survey and in connection with the receipt and redemption of rewards and incentives. When you sign up for a Panel you will be asked to provide certain PII and demographic information, including, without limitation, your name, address(es), telephone number(s) (including home, cell, and/or business telephone numbers), email address(es), date of birth, and occupation/education, and racial and gender information. In addition to the collection of PII mentioned above, during and subsequent to the registration process, you may be asked to voluntarily provide or disclose Sensitive Data. "Sensitive Data" means PII that discloses or reveals health and medical conditions, sexual orientation or sexual life, political opinions/views, race/ethnic origin, religious and philosophical beliefs, and trade-union membership. Sensitive Data is used to target survey opportunities to you and for analysis by researchers.

2. INFORMATION COLLECTED THROUGH AUTOMATED MEANS

NORC may also collect certain information automatically, such as information about: (i) your device or computer and its capabilities, including, without limitation, the operating system, the applications or programs on your device or computer, IP address, device carrier, device type, time zone, network status, browser type, browser identifier, unique device identification number, carrier user ID (a number uniquely allocated to you by your network provider), media access control address, international mobile equipment identity, locale and other information that alone or in combination may be used to uniquely identify your device or computer; and (ii) your activities in connection with NORC's Services, including, without limitation, survey data and responses, and reward, incentive, and/or sweepstakes information. Cookies.

NORC's Use of Cookies Generally. Cookies are small files that store certain data on a device or computer. NORC may use session and persistent cookies for several purposes, including, without limitation, to provide a better survey experience, quality control, validation, to enable or facilitate survey participation, tracking of completed surveys or other completed actions, and for fraud detection and/or prevention. Session cookies expire when you close your browser. Persistent cookies remain on your device or computer indefinitely until deleted.

Use of Cookies by Subcontractors Generally. NORC may use third parties to provide services and certain functionality to NORC, including, without limitation, panelist fraud detection services. NORC may use contracts with such third parties to control their use of cookies and to limit their use of cookies to the limited purposes set forth in the contracts.

Log Files. NORC's Services may automatically gather and store certain information in log files, including, without limitation, data available from your web browser, including, without limitation, IP Address, browser type, internet service provider, referring/exiting pages, operating system, date/time stamp, and click stream data.

Watermarking. Generally, watermarking involves placing a technology or file on your device or computer to identify that it has previously been used to register with or access NORC's Services. Watermarking is used for quality control and validation purposes and fraud detection and/or prevention purposes. NORC may engage in watermarking activities directly or through a third party vendor.

3. INFORMATION COLLECTED FROM THIRD PARTIES

NORC may obtain PII and demographic information from third parties, including, without limitation, information services bureaus, other sample suppliers, and/or social media platforms. NORC may use the PII for various purposes, including, without limitation, data validation, data append, fraud detection purposes, and/or sending you a one-time email to invite you to participate in a survey and/or join a Panel.

4. NORC'S USE OF INFORMATION

DOES NORC SHARE PERSONALLY IDENTIFIABLE INFORMATION (PII) AND SURVEY RESPONSES COLLECTED THROUGH NORC'S SERVICES WITH THIRD PARTIES?

With respect to information collected through NORC's Services, NORC will provide survey data and responses to NORC clients with no PII disclosed by NORC. If you voluntarily disclose PII in connection with your survey responses, and NORC collects the survey responses, NORC will transfer the survey responses, and the voluntarily disclosed PII to NORC's client. In addition, NORC may share geographic and/or demographic data NORC collects from you during enrollment or through certain profile questions NORC may ask you. Such data may be shared with third parties in single summary form (i.e., individual respondent level) or aggregate summary form (i.e., a group of respondents).

Generally, disclosures of PII by NORC to a third party are made pursuant to a written agreement between NORC and the third party, which, among other things, limits use of the PII. NORC may allow a client to collect PII directly from respondents. The disclosure is voluntary and, prior to collection, the client is required to enter into a written agreement with NORC, which, among other things, limits use of the PII.

NORC will disclose PII collected through NORC's Services to third parties as follows:

2. Pursuant to applicable law or in response to a subpoena or an order of a court or government agency.

7. In connection with a change of ownership or control, including, without limitation, a merger or an acquisition of any or all of NORC's business assets, provided that the party receiving or acquiring the PII agrees to use, protect, and maintain the security, integrity, and confidentiality of PII in accordance with this Privacy Policy.
8. To partners of NORC who offer incentives for use of NORC's Services, solely for the partners' use in connection with their incentive program and its terms of use, including, without limitation, the crediting of member accounts maintained by the partners for individuals who use or participate in NORC's Services.
9. As otherwise permitted pursuant to this Privacy Policy.

Additionally, anonymized member identification numbers (Member PINs) and information collected by automated means are provided to third parties, including, without limitation, clients, partners, agents and/or vendor for several purposes, including, without limitation, identifying respondents for re-contact surveys or communications, fraud detection and/or prevention, database matching, data validation, data append, coding, data segmentation, and reward, incentive, sweepstakes or promotion related services and/or developing aggregated data insights regarding our survey respondents, and providing a client(s) with access to and use of the aggregated data insights.

HOW CAN I OPT OUT OF CERTAIN DATA COLLECTION AND/OR USE?

HOW LONG DOES NORC KEEP MY PII AND OTHER INFORMATION?

NORC may retain PII and other information relating to your use of the Services to the extent required or permitted by law.

HOW CAN I ACCESS THE PII AND OTHER INFORMATION COLLECTED ABOUT ME?

You may request access to review, correct, delete, or to object to the processing of your PII by contacting us as set forth below.

DOES NORC COLLECT DATA FROM MINORS?

Yes. NORC does collect data from minors (defined as persons under the age of 18 years old) following consent from parents or legal guardians. NORC's policy regarding data collected from minors is more restrictive than our overall Privacy Policy to provide further protection to minors and is discussed below.

NORC believes it is important to protect the online privacy of minors. Accordingly, NORC adheres to Applicable Laws and Codes pertaining to the protection of minor's privacy, including, without limitation, the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act of 1998 in the United States (as amended). NORC carefully considers both privacy issues and parental concerns in connection with surveys involving individuals under the age of eighteen (18). For example, in the United States, NORC does not knowingly collect PII from anyone under the age of 18 without first obtaining parental consent or determining emancipated minor status. Any content in this section of NORC's Privacy Policy and NORC's compliance with the Certificate of Confidentiality (discussed below) that is more restrictive or contradicts any other section of this Privacy Policy shall supersede and control to the extent that it applies to data collected from minors.

To further protect the privacy of individuals under 18 in our Panel, NORC has received a Certificate of Confidentiality from the National Institute for Children's Health and Human Development, a department within the National Institutes of Health (NIH). NORC can use this Certificate to legally refuse to disclose information that may identify you or your minor child in any federal, state, or local civil, criminal, administrative, legislative, or other proceedings, for example, if there is a court subpoena. NORC will use the Certificate to resist any demands for information that would identify you, except as explained below.

The Certificate of Confidentiality does not prevent disclosure to state or local authorities of child abuse and neglect, or threats to self-harm or to harm others.

WHAT SECURITY IS AVAILABLE FOR THE PII AND OTHER INFORMATION COLLECTED THROUGH THE SERVICES?

NORC maintains appropriate technical, administrative, and physical safeguards to protect PII and other information disclosed or collected by NORC. NORC reviews, monitors, and evaluates its privacy practices and protection systems on a regular basis. Notwithstanding the foregoing, transmissions over the Internet and/or a mobile network are not one hundred percent (100%) secure, and NORC does not guarantee the security of transmissions. Please be apprised all Internet-based communication is subject to the remote likelihood of tampering from an outside source. NORC is not responsible for any errors by individuals in submitting PII to NORC.

WHO CAN I CONTACT WITH QUESTIONS OR COMPLAINTS ABOUT THIS PRIVACY POLICY? QUESTIONS OR COMPLAINTS GENERALLY.

If you have any questions or complaints regarding NORC's privacy practices and/or this Privacy Policy, or want to communicate an opt-out request to NORC, or want to exercise your rights to access, review, correct, delete, or object to the processing of PII, please contact us via email at info@AmeriSpeak.org or telephone NORC toll-free at (800) 860-1178. You may also send a letter by U.S. Mail to:

You are solely liable and responsible for all content, materials, information, and comments you use, upload, post, or submit in connection with the Services ("User Content"). You are solely responsible for all third-party approvals, consents, and/or authorizations required for User Content. If you submit User Content, the User Content may become publicly available and may be shared with third parties, including, without limitation, NORC's clients, clients of NORC's clients, and third-party service providers. You agree to indemnify NORC against any and all losses, liabilities, claims, or expenses of any kind, including reasonable attorney's fees for the defense thereof, arising relating or arising from User Content you provide to us in connection with the Services.

9. UPDATING MEMBERSHIP PROFILE

You agree to promptly notify NORC of any changes in or to information contained in your member profile. You agree to review and update, as needed, your membership profile at least once every six (6) months. You may update, correct, and/or delete information contained in your membership profile by: (i) accessing your Panel membership account; (ii) sending an email to the Panel Support Team at support@AmeriSpeak.org; or (iii) calling the Panel Support Team toll-free telephone number at (888) 326-9424.

10. AMERIPOINTS

In connection with your use of the Services, you may have the opportunity to receive AmeriPoints. AmeriPoints may be used to redeem rewards consistent with these Terms and additional requirements set forth within the AmeriSpeak Member Portal. From time to time, NORC may offer additional promotions or incentives, including entries into prize draws or sweepstakes. Information, official rules, and terms and conditions for those incentives, and prize draws or sweepstakes may be available on the Website for a Panel, at the beginning or end of a survey, in survey invitations, on the Website(s), within the AmeriSpeak Member Portal and/or may be described in any newsletter or other communication distributed or published by NORC. expire one year after their conversion to AmeriPoints. However and whenever issued, AmeriPoints may be rendered void in the event your membership is terminated. NORC uses points in order, starting with those that are expiring soonest.

APPENDIX F: PARENT CONSENT TO INVITE TEENS TO AMERISPEAK TEEN PANEL

Screen 1

First, about the AmeriSpeak Teen Panel...

...it was created to survey teens living in AmeriSpeak households across the U.S. about what young adults in America think and feel about issues and current events

...survey topics have included health behaviors, internet use, education and career plans, attitudes about politics and climate change, how teens form relationships, among others

...it's been utilized by researchers at the Pew Foundation, Kaiser Family Foundation, University of Chicago, the National Institute of Justice, and others

...it has informed decision makers and health agencies to create policies that impact all teens

...survey results are often reported by major news outlets across the country

For more details about how the AmeriSpeak Teen Panel works, please visit the AmeriSpeak Teen Panel website.

Screen 2

As a member of the AmeriSpeak Teen Panel:

- Your teen(s) will be invited to complete surveys and get points.
- Your teen(s) can redeem their points using the AmeriSpeak Teen Member Portal for rewards from Amazon.com, Dominos, Sephora, Game Hub, and many others.
- Your teen can refuse to answer any question, can stop any survey, or can request to leave the AmeriSpeak Teen Panel at any time.

Screen 3

As the parent of an AmeriSpeak Teen Panelist:

- You will be notified by email each time we invite your teen to complete a survey on a non-sensitive topic.
- If the survey has questions about topics that are sensitive, we will send you a survey first to ask your permission to invite your teen to complete the survey. You can choose whether your teen(s) will be invited.
- Your decision to allow your teen to join the panel is completely voluntary.

- You can be assured we will never share any of your teens' personal information with any clients or third parties without your explicit prior consent. For more details about how we protect your privacy and the limits of that protection, please see our Privacy Policy.

Now that you have learned a bit more about the AmeriSpeak Teen Panel, will you be interested to invite teenager(s) age 13-17 living at least 3 months in a year in your household to join the Teen Panel?

For your help with letting your teenagers learn about AmeriSpeak, we will give you [BONUSPOINTS] AmeriPoints for each teenager in your home that becomes an AmeriSpeak Teen Panel member. You will have the option at the end of this survey to have the AmeriPoints be added to your teenager's AmeriPoints account.

1. Yes, I am interested.
2. No, I am not interested.
3. No, as there are no teenager(s) in my household.

APPENDIX G: TEEN CONSENT TO JOIN THE AMERISPEAK TEEN PANEL

Please bear with us on this question. It may be a long read, but we want to make sure that you understand what AmeriSpeak is, what you will do as an AmeriSpeak member, and your rights as an AmeriSpeak member.

So let's start...

You are being asked to join a community of other teens to help us learn more about what you and people your age think by taking short surveys on a variety of topics such as current events, climate change, politics, health, dating and relationships, and more.

Important things you should know are:

- Each survey we will send you is voluntary; you can choose whether or not to take it, and you can stop taking the survey at any time. Joining our survey platform is also voluntary, and you can choose to leave the panel and stop receiving surveys at any time.
- The answers you give to our surveys will be kept private. Your parent or guardian may be able to see the questions for the surveys you are sent, but they will never be able to see how YOU answered the questions.
- To further help NORC protect your privacy, we have obtained a Certificate of Confidentiality from the National Institutes of Health. The researchers can use this Certificate to legally refuse to share information that may identify you in any federal, state, or local civil, criminal, administrative, legislative, or other proceedings, for example, if there is a court order. The researchers will use the Certificate to resist any demands for information that would identify you.
- You should understand that a Certificate of Confidentiality does not prevent you or a member of your family from voluntarily releasing information about yourself or your involvement in this research. If an insurer, medical care provider, or other person obtains your written consent to receive research information, then the researchers will not use the Certificate to withhold that information.
- We are interested in your opinions and experiences. There are no right or wrong answers to the questions on our surveys. If you are uncomfortable answering some of the questions, you can skip them.
- If you are concerned that someone may see your answers while you are taking a survey, you can choose to take the survey at any time when you will have privacy.
- You will receive AmeriPoints worth $5-$15 or more, for each survey you complete. Rewards will be given as AmeriPoints which you can exchange for gift cards such as Amazon.com, Dominos, Sephora, Game Hub, and many others. Your parent or guardian will receive notification when you are invited to take a new survey. They will also be able to view the name of the surveys you finished and your reward history. However, they will not see your answers to these surveys.

If you have any questions or concerns about your participation in this study, please contact AmeriSpeak Support at support@AmeriSpeak.org. If you have any questions about your rights as a research subject, please contact NORC IRB at baker-april@norc.org.

1. Yes, I would like to continue.
2. No, I do not wish to take part in this research community.
